No. 185.—The following Government Order is published :—

G.O. Ms. No. 2332, Public (Elections), dated 2nd December 1937.

In G.Os. No. 1103 (8-23), Public (Elections), dated 15th June 1937, No. 1824, Public (Elections), dated 24th September 1937, and in certain other orders certain employees of municipalities have been empowered to receive applications for enrolment in the rolls of the Madras Legislature Assembly in virtue of a person being a literate. This authorisation except in the case of executive authorities of municipalities who have been empowered to dispose of applications also, has been confined only to the receipt of applications and does not extend to certifying to the literacy and to the correctness of the declarations of applicants which has been reserved under rule 7 (d) in section I and rule 7 (c) in section II of the Assembly Electoral Rolls Rules to village officers and Government servants. The Government, however, observe that a very large number of applications has been received by Registration Officers which bear certificates by municipal employees who have been empowered to receive applications only. Such applications should under the rules be rejected. But in view of the fact that the certificates have been given under a misapprehension by the municipal employees and that the rejection of the applications bearing such certificates will prevent a considerable number of persons who apparently were not aware of the inadmissibility of such certificates, from getting their names on the rolls the Government have decided as a very special case to regularise these applications this year by amending the rules and treating the municipal employees who have been empowered to receive applications as having authority to give the certificates in question. Applications containing certificates by municipal employees will be summarily rejected in future years.

2. The following notification will be published in the Fort St. George Gazette —

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉS.

Fort St. George, December 4, 1937.

No. 962.—

With reference to representations received in respect of wine required for religious purposes in connexion with certain forms of worship, the Government of Madras desire to remove some misconceptions that appear to prevail in the matter.

Section 16 of the Madras Prohibition Act, 1937, provides that the Provincial Government may exempt any specified liquor from the provisions of the Act on the ground that such liquor is required for a medicinal, scientific, industrial or such like purpose. This section contemplates the exemption of liquors manufactured or produced solely or primarily for medicinal, scientific and such like purposes, e.g., medicinal preparations, flavouring essences, extracts and colourings, perfumes and toilet preparations containing spirit. It is not intended to cover beverage liquors such as wine.

The case of beverage liquors is provided for in section 20, which authorizes the issue of permits and licences to persons and institutions for the possession, consumption, etc., of liquors.

The exemption provided for in section 16 depends on the nature of the liquor while the grant of licence or permit under section 20 depends on the person or institution using or possessing the liquor. The possession and use of wine required for Christian religious worship can only be dealt with on a personal basis under section 20 and not on the basis of a specified form of liquor under section 16. The Act provides for permits and licences being given in the case of beverage liquors so that the competent authority may examine each case. Provision has been made for the issue of permits free of any fee to bishops and priests who require wine for religious purposes. The system of permits is necessary to prevent the possibility of abuse and a provision that the permit may be cancelled should not be treated as derogatory to the dignity of the person to whom it is given nor as a reason to apprehend unreasonable or arbitrary cancellation of the permit. There is neither insult nor injustice involved in the present arrangement.

The rules that have been issued for the issue of permits have been the result of careful consideration and there is no reason to apprehend any difficulty in the administration of the law. No difficulty has been felt so far in either the issue of permits or in the exercise of the right to carry on religious worship in accordance with ancient usage. A general exemption, on the other hand, may lead to abuse and difficulty in administration. The question of modifying the terms of the permits granted for religious purposes and putting them on a distinct basis is engaging the attention of the Government.

No. 963.—

Owing to inadequate rains in May and June last in the Bellary district the mungari crops in parts of the district were affected and they yielded outturns below the normal. Seasonal prospects revived however during September and October, when there was some rainfall, which allowed the hingari crops to be sown. The outlook was encouraging and the sowings, though late, were not so far below the average as to cause anxiety. Seasonal conditions continued to be satisfactory till the beginning of November, but the subsequent failure of rains affected the growth of the hingari crops. The late showers failed completely, with the result that the crops have failed in some cases and in the others the yield is likely to be poor. In the month of November indications appeared in a few parts of the district of a scarcity of employment among the labouring classes and the poorer ryots. In parts of the Alur taluk the prices of the principal food-grains showed a tendency to increase.

The areas affected are parts of the Alur, Hospet and Bellary taluks. As a result of his inspection of these areas the Collector of Bellary reported that it was necessary to start test-works in the localities affected. The Board of Revenue supported the Collector's recommendation. The Hon'ble the Revenue Minister toured in the affected areas in order to study the situation and to obtain information first-hand, and he came to the conclusion that measures were necessary.

2. The Government have now ordered the starting of the following test-works, in accordance with the provisions of the Famine Code, in the areas affected in the Alur, Hospet and Bellary taluks:—

ALUR TALUK.

(1) Alur-Nagaladinne road (3 miles from Donapuram road junction south to Garjivanka).

(2) Hebbatam-Holagondi road (8 miles).

(3) Alur-Gooty road (5 miles from Alur to Nagardona).

(4) Arikera to Virupapuram road.

HOSPET TALUK.

Kamph-Kudathini road (5 miles—from mile 20–26).

BELLARY TALUK.

(1) Moka-Gulyam road.

(2) Kumgodu-Lemmiganur road.

ACQUISITION OF LANDS.

No. 792.—

In G.O. No. 1965, Development, dated the 27th August 1937, the Government appointed M R Ry. B. Jaganath Das Ghra, B.A., M.L., Advocate, Madras, as a Board of Conciliation under the Trade Disputes Act, 1929, for promoting a settlement of the dispute that had arisen in July last between the employers and the workers of the Sree Ganeshar

Aluminium Works, Madras. They have now received Mr. Jaganath Das's report under section 7 (3) of the Act and direct that it be published in the Fort St. George Gazette as required by section 12 (2). In doing so, the Government desire to express their cordial appreciation of the generous spirit in which Mr. Jaganath Das took up this important task and the untiring energy he brought to bear on it and their gratitude for the most valuable report he has submitted in the matter.

The Government are in general agreement with Mr. Jaganath Das's recommendations. They trust that both the parties to the dispute will accept these recommendations and thus contribute towards industrial peace in the Sree Ganeshar Aluminium Works, Madras.

ENCLOSURE.

Report, dated 8th November 1937, of M.R.Ry. B. Jagannath Das Garu on the trade dispute between the employers and the workers of the Sree Ganeshar Aluminium Works, Madras.

The Government of Madras by its order G.O. No. 1965, dated 27th August 1937, has constituted me as a Board of Conciliation under the Trade Disputes Act. I have been directed to examine the memoranda presented or thereafter to be presented by the parties to the dispute which led to a strike in Sree Ganeshar Aluminium Works on the 29th of July 1937. My function under the Trade Disputes Act is primarily to bring about a conciliation between the parties and if that fails to make such enquiry as is feasible relating to the matters in dispute and submit a report thereon to the Government.

The Sree Ganeshar Aluminium Works manufactures at present almost entirely brass and copper articles. It was originally started as an aluminium factory in 1918 and purchased by the present owners Messrs. Jeevanlal & Co., Ltd., in 1929 and remodelled thereafter.

The manufacture of aluminium articles having been found unprofitable the management started manufacturing brass and copper vessels in 1933-33. This work in the factory has steadily progressed from 1933 up to date. In 1932, the factory was employing only 120 persons, in 1936 and 1937, the factory has been employing about 350 persons and providing work for almost the entire year excepting the usual holidays. It consumes raw materials worth about five or six lakhs of rupees per year.

The relations between the management and the labourers have been more or less fairly smooth from 1932 onward and there was apparently no occasion for any serious dissatisfaction. The trouble started in July last when the management dismissed one workman on the ground that he was deliberately causing destruction of material entrusted to him for work. This led first to a sectional strike and then a general strike and then a lock-out which ultimately was called off on the assurance of the appointment of a conciliation board to go into all the grievances of the workmen. During the course of the strike, a memorandum was presented by the workmen formulating quite a large number of grievances and demands, the most important of which are about the inadequacy of wages, the absence of holidays and leave facilities, and about the insecurity of the conditions of service and these form really at present the substantial grounds of dispute between the parties and the subject-matter of the present enquiry. The management naturally complained that these demands were not the cause, but the consequences of the strike. The management has invited me in the course of this enquiry to say whether or not the strike was justified and whether the attitude of the workers in springing upon them during the course of a strike demands of a very substantial nature relating to wages, etc., was reasonable. There can be no doubt that the conduct of the workers in so far as these demands were put forward during a strike and without affording the management a reasonable opportunity of arriving at an internal settlement cannot be justified. It does not necessarily follow, however, that the grievances are unreal. The workmen when asked about this matter say that they were constantly making oral complaints about the inadequacy of the wages etc., and that the complaints were not being heeded to. This is not unlikely, but does not absolve them from their obvious duty to give the management a fair opportunity of dealing with their grievances in a calm and conciliatory atmosphere. As to the justification for the strike of 29th July, I do not think that it will serve any useful purpose to make any enquiry into it and to apportion the blame when the entertainment or otherwise of the particular workman whose dismissal started the trouble has ceased to be a live issue.

Whatever may be said about the method and manner of the presentation of the demands and grievances by the workmen, I have satisfied myself that to day the main live issue between the parties is the question of the adequacy of wages, etc., and that harmonious relations cannot be restored without a satisfactory solution of—

(1) the proper wages for the workmen, and

(2) reasonable guarantees of honest and proper return of work.

On the question of wages, I have examined carefully the memoranda submitted by both sides and the information furnished by them orally and in writing. The labourers contend that the minimum wage for unskilled labour should be eight annas and for skilled labour twelve annas. They also say that such of the workmen who are being paid above the minimum wage are not being paid wages adequate to their skill and the length of employment and demand an increase of two annas per head in some cases and one anna per head in other cases. Both sides have offered to lead elaborate evidence. I have not thought it necessary to go into the matter with such elaborateness. Indeed such an elaborate enquiry should if at all be undertaken by the Government with reference to the entire conditions of factory labour throughout the province by the constitution of wage fixing machinery. An enquiry with reference to single and comparatively small factory like the one under consideration is neither feasible nor useful. On such material and information as I could gather I have come to a rough and ready conclusion that the minimum wage that may reasonably be recommended for payment in this factory at the present time should be six annas for unskilled labour, nine annas for semi-skilled labour and twelve annas for skilled labour, the working hours per day being eight. There are quite a considerable number of cases where the wages given in this factory do not conform to this standard and such cases require immediate relief. There are as many as 37 women employed in the unskilled departments and almost all of them get wages less than six annas. There is a notion that a woman's work is not to be valued the same as man's. I do not see why so far as minimum wage for unskilled labour is concerned, a woman should be paid less. I recommend that the same minimum wage for unskilled labour should be applied to the women labourers also.

I must note that the management claims that some of the wages now prevailing in the factory which are less than 6 annas are merely apprentice wages. There does not appear to be any clear demarcation as at present in this factory between apprentice-labour and regular labour and it is not at all clear that there is apprentice-labour to any appreciable extent.

The question as to the adequacy of the wages in the skilled and unskilled departments with reference to the nature of the work and the length of employment is a very much more difficult problem. There is no uniformity in the wages at present obtaining and I have been unable to gather that the wages conform to any definable standards having clear relation to length of service, skill and so forth. The wages are apparently the result of the actual bargaining at the time when the particular labourer efficiency himself for employment and such subsequent increments as the management has been giving to individuals or to departments from time to time according to its ideas. The management maintains in individuals or to departments from time to time according to its ideas. The management maintains in addition elaborate records relating to the daily outturn of work of each labourer and has a system of giving special bonuses to some departments. It has also a system of full attendance bonus for which it is stated a large number do not become eligible. It is not possible, however, to point at present on the introduction into such comparatively small concerns of anything like standardisation of wages, unless it is done as a measure of general legislative reform. All that can be done is to see whether on the whole there is a case for some increase of wages and if so to what extent it may be given, having regard to the financial position of the company and the market conditions of the business and the like.

From such information as I have been able to gather I have formed the impression that the present wages require some increase not only with reference to the minimum standards but also as an all-round measure.

The management, however, asserts that the financial position of the company and the present conditions of the trade cannot justify any increase. The market conditions in respect of the prices of raw materials used in this industry and in respect of the selling prices of finished goods seem to be subject to rather sharp fluctuations within recent months and the present therefore appears to be somewhat inopportune moment for insisting on any very substantial increase. The labourers assert that the company is making large profits and that a very substantial increase in the wages should be recommended. The management on the other hand asserts that the margin of profits is very narrow and that they have not yet been able to build up any reserves. If the assertions of either side are to be verified, it involves probably a somewhat harassing enquiry into the accounts of the company at Madras, Bombay and Calcutta for which there appears to be at present no justification. As already stated the present is not the time for any very substantial increase even if it were found that the company had been making in the past any large profits. I am also fairly convinced that the company is not making extraordinarily large profits as the labourers imagine. On the other hand, however, I believe that the moderate increase I am going to recommend can be fairly given effect to by the management without any serious upsetting of their business situation.

One matter, however, requires special mention in this context. The management have, I think, been reluctant to consider the question of increase in wages more, because of the feeling that the labourers in the workshop have been recently adopting unfair tactics and that any increase in the wages at present without an adequate guarantee of fair dealing will only introduce further demoralisation. I have been consequently asked to go into the question whether or not there has been unfair dealing and if there is, then to suggest some guarantees for fair dealing in future if I decide to recommend any increase in the wages.

The specific complaint that the management make is that the labourers within the last few months with a view to coerce terms have been deliberately and organisedly giving substantially less outturn of work and that they have been handling the material either deliberately or carelessly so as to bring about a large percentage of breakages and scrap. The labourers say that there has been no such wilful mischief on their part and that the alleged breakages and shortage in the outturn are due to the difference in the temper of the raw material that is now being supplied and to the deliberate and clever manipulations by the management of the nature, quantity and qualities of the material supplied so dressed up as to put the labourers in the wrong. I have looked into this grievance rather closely and I am inclined to think that the labourers have been as a matter of fact giving much less outturn than before and have been responsible for some breakages in the material, etc., and consequential loss to the company whether intended or otherwise. The labourers say that that, if at all, is unconscious and not intended and that it may be the result of the unsettled conditions consequent on the strike and the pendency of this enquiry. Making full allowance however for the existence of unsettled conditions and to the other explanations suggested by the labourers there appears to me to be no justification for the comparatively large difference in the outturn which the figures furnished disclose. I cannot help feeling that the labourers have adopted unfair tactics in this respect.

The management have pressed me to recommend some guarantees against the repetition of such unfair methods and for a fair guarantee of the outturn. One of the points on which the management have insisted as a remedy against such recurrence is to put the entire labour in the workshop on a piecework basis. At present all the departments in this factory except buff-polishing and finishing are on day-wage system. The labourers want the last two also to be put on day-wage basis. It appears that in many factories the piecework is more in vogue than day-wages but I am inclined to think that in the long run the piecework labour is detrimental to sound labour conditions and I am not prepared to suggest that the departments which are now working on day-wage system should be converted into piecework. As to the buff-polish and finishing which are working all through on piecework basis, I think on the whole there is no reason for making a change at present. The system of labour in this factory has been built up with reference to the exigencies of the expansion and development of business and I do not feel called upon to recommend that the system which has come into vogue in the various departments should at the present moment be interfered with.

The question still remains whether short of putting the entire work on piece-rate basis any other recommendation can be made to safeguard the management against deliberate decrease in outturn. I have given the matter my anxious consideration and I feel that the real remedy lies in the restriction of the mutual goodwill and not in the adoption of any arithmetical standards which will be difficult to work out and liable to abuse. The relations between the management and the labourers have been cordial till recently and I have strong hopes that once this unsettled condition is put an end to by the management accepting the small increase that I propose to recommend, there will be no room for further complaint in the near future. I have also personally advised the labourers that they will be alienating all the sympathy for their cause if such methods are repeated and any room is given for such complaints to recur.

In view of the above conclusions I recommend a general increase in the aggregate daily wage in all departments of about seven per cent which works out at about rupees fifteen. I have arrived at this figure by working out in detail what increase may be given for each but I have not made the detailed working a part of this report since I recognise that it will be more satisfactory to make the distribution by mutual consent of parties if the main recommendations are agreed to. I am prepared to help in the working out of the details at a later stage when the parties accept the main recommendations. The benefit of the increase may also be given to the departments working on piecework basis by giving proportionate increase in their rates. In working out the details the following considerations may be kept in view —

(1) The wages of those receiving below the minimum wages for unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled labour suggested above should be raised so as to approach the minimum.

(2) The increase for the rest should be worked out on the footing of the wages that each person was receiving as on 1st July 1937 and all subsequent increases should be counted as part of the present increase.

(3) Preference should be given to those whose wages are comparatively disproportionate to their length of service and their skill.

I have dealt above with the main dispute between the parties, viz., about wages. The memorandum submitted by both sides raise other questions with which I shall now proceed to deal.

I. Insecurity of service.—The labourers say that there is no security of service and that persons are discharged without cause and without an opportunity of explanation. The management on the other hand says that the labourers absent themselves frequently from work without notice and without cause. In order to avoid scope for complaint on both sides I suggest that whenever the management feel that they have cause for discharging any labourer from service, notice may first be given calling on him for an explanation within a reasonable time and that finally orders may be passed by the manager after receiving explanation.

The management may insist that no labourer should absent himself without applying in writing giving reasons for the absence. The management may also insist that frequent absence will be a sufficient cause for discharging the workman unless he is able to furnish adequate reason for such frequent absence.

II. Wages.—I have dealt with this matter already as the main question arising on this reference.

III. Piecework.—I have also dealt with this incidentally above.

IV. Over time.—The management explains that the over-time if any is being paid for extra.

V. Hours of work.—This is really covered by (IV) above. Normal hours of work observed in this factory are eight hours per day.

VI. Compensation, lamps and protection for accidents.—These are matters which to some extent are provided for by existing legislative enactment. Further reforms in this direction have to be introduced by legislature. But pending legislation I recommend that where a workman is injured by accident and produces a certificate from the head of a Government Hospital that his injury necessitates his absence from work for a specified number of days he may be given the compensatory wages for the period of such enforced absence.

VII. Maternity benefits and provision for old age and provident fund.—These are matters which in the absence of legislation can only be left to the goodwill of the management for the time being. I suggest that the Government should bring about legislation in these respects.

VIII. Holidays and leave.—I recommend that the management should fix five days in the year as general holidays with wages. I would also recommend to the management that in case of labourers who have been in their continuous service for more than two years they may be given in addition casual leave for five days in the year with full wages. I find that at present nearly two-thirds of the men will be entitled on this footing. This privilege should be made applicable also to labourers on piece-work basis, the payment to them being on the basis of the average day-wage they earn during the month. I recommend that it may be open to the workman not to avail himself of the leave wholly or partly and to get compensation bonus at the end of the year. It should also be open to the management, to refuse to grant casual leave on any particular day when it is applied for by groups of persons in such a manner as to dislocate work and to give compensatory bonus instead.

Working days per week.—The understanding at present seems to be that the management will compulsorily provide work for four days in the week and optionally for the remaining two days. Though this is the understanding the management has as a matter of fact been providing work for all the six days in the week except very occasionally. I recommend that the understanding may be changed to one of obligatory provision of work for five days in the week. It is hoped however that apart from this understanding which is a matter of convention the management will provide full work for all the six days in the week except for purposes of stock-taking, machine-cleaning and the like.

Before closing the report I may express the hope that an adjustment between the parties may be found possible on the basis of these recommendations. A good deal of the present friction appears to me to have been avoidable if the questions had been approached in the proper spirit. The relations between the management and the labourers have changed in this factory in accordance with the spirit of the times and unless the management recognize it adequately continual trouble is inevitable with the best of intentions on both sides. The management will not help themselves or the cause of mutual good relations if they continue to feel that there must be subordination and surrender first before any consideration can be given to the labourers. The labourers however must recognize that they can assert their rights only if they realize and discharge their duties properly and honestly.

In a situation like this a high responsibility rests on the labour union and its officials. They would be failing in their duty to labour if they merely acted as advocates of the labourers' grievances. They must recognize that it is their duty first to see that the labourer keeps his bargain honestly. It is equally their duty to inspire confidence in the employer that his point-of-view if honest is understood and appreciated.

Fort St. George, December 4, 1937.

No. 793 —

On the 23rd September 1937, the Government published the Madras Agriculturists Moratorium Bill in the Fort St. George Gazette. The object of that Bill was to prevent harassment of agriculturists by their creditors pending the formulation of comprehensive measures for dealing with the problem of their indebtedness. That Bill provided that so long as it was in force, no suit or proceeding should be instituted against an agriculturist and that all pending suits and proceedings should be stayed. The Moratorium was to remain in force for one year or at the most for two years.

As representations were made to the Government that sufficient notice had not been given of the Bill, they decided to postpone it for a short time so as to give the public an opportunity to consider its provisions. It was also felt that some legal difficulties which were pointed out should be met adequately.

The Government have since carefully considered the whole question and have decided on the measure of permanent relief which should be given to agriculturist debtors. The decisions of the Government have been embodied in the Madras Agriculturists Relief Bill, which was published in a Gazette Extraordinary on 1st December 1937. As the new Bill specifies the permanent measures to be adopted, the need for a temporary Moratorium

Bill has disappeared. The advantages of dealing with the problem in one stage instead of in two stages will be obvious. The disputes between the parties are thereby reduced to a minimum. The period of uncertainty is also removed.

The main provisions of the present Bill have been given retrospective effect from 1st October 1937, so that agriculturists will to all intents and purposes be in the same position as if the Moratorium Bill had become law on that date. It should be added that special care has been taken to include in the new Bill provisions which will give adequate relief to agriculturists who have been harassed by their creditors after the 1st October 1937. The attention of the public is specially invited to clauses 14, 16 and 17 of the Bill.

The tender should be in the prescribed form obtainable from the Executive Engineer's office. The tenders will be opened by the Executive Engineer, Nellore Division, at Nellore on 6th January 1938.

2. Tenders must be submitted in sealed covers, and should be addressed to the Executive Engineer, Nellore Division, the name of the tenderer and the name of the work being noted on the cover.

If the tender is made by an individual, it shall be signed with his full name and his address shall be given. If it is made by a firm, it shall be signed with the co-partnership name by a member of the firm, who shall also sign his own name, and the name and address of each member of the firm shall be given. If the tender is made by a corporation, it shall be signed by a duly authorized officer who shall produce with his tender, satisfactory evidence of his authorization. Such tendering corporation may be required before the contract is executed to furnish evidence of its corporate existence.

3. Each tenderer must pay, as earnest money, a sum of rupees (350) three hundred and fifty only into the branch of the Imperial Bank of India or into the Government treasury or sub-treasury within the jurisdiction of the Executive Engineer concerned to the credit of Revenue Deposits on behalf of the Executive Engineer of the Nellore Division and enclose with his tender the chalan endorsed accordingly. This earnest money will be refunded to the unsuccessful tenderer on application, after intimation is sent of rejection of the tender or at the expiration of two months from date of tender whichever is earlier. The refund will be authorised by the Executive Engineer by suitable endorsement on the chalan. The earnest money will not be received in cash or currency notes by the Public Works Department officers.

The earnest money will be retained in the case of the successful tenderer and will not carry any interest. It will be dealt with as provided in the tender.

4. When a tender is to be accepted, the tenderer whose tender is under consideration shall attend the Division office on the date fixed by written information to him. He shall forthwith upon intimation being given to him by the Executive Engineer of acceptance of his tender make a security deposit of rupees (350) three hundred and fifty only in one of the forms prescribed in the Madras Public Works Account Code and sign an agreement in the proper departmental form for the due fulfilment of the contract. This security deposit together with the earnest money and the amount withheld according to clause 68 of the Standard Preliminary Specification of the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications will be retained as security for the due fulfilment of the contract. If a cash security deposit is made by the contractor he shall follow the procedure laid down in the preceding paragraph for payment of earnest money and such deposit will not bear interest. Failure to enter into the required agreement or to make the security deposit as defined in this paragraph, shall entail forfeiture of the earnest money. The written agreement to be entered into between the contractor and the Government shall be the foundation of the rights of both the parties and the contract shall not be deemed to be complete until the agreement has first been signed by the contractor and then by the proper officer authorized to enter into contracts on behalf of Government.

5. The tenderer shall examine closely the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications, and also the Standard Preliminary Specification contained therein and sign the Divisional office copy of the Madras Detailed Standard Specifications and its addenda volume in token of such study before submitting his tender unit rates which shall be for finished work in situ. He shall also carefully study the drawings and additional specifications and all the documents which form part of the agreement to be entered into by the accepted tenderer. The Madras Detailed Standard Specifications and other documents connected with the contract such as specifications, plans, descriptive specification sheet regarding materials, etc., can be seen at any time between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. on office days in the office of the Executive Engineer, Nellore Division.

6. The tenderer's attention is directed to the requirements for materials under the clause "Materials and workmanship" in the "Preliminary Specification." Materials conforming to the British Standard Specifications shall be used on the work, and the tenderer shall quote his rates accordingly.

7. Every tenderer is expected, before quoting his rates, to inspect the site of the proposed work. He should also inspect the quarries and satisfy himself about the quality and availability of materials. The names of quarries, kilns, etc., wherefrom certain materials are to be obtained will be given in the Descriptive Specification Sheet. The best class of materials to be obtained from the quarries or other source defined shall be used on the work. In every case the materials must comply with the relevant standard specification. Samples of materials as called for in the standard specifications or in this tender notice or as required by the Executive Engineer in any case shall be submitted for the Executive Engineer's approval before the supply to site of work is begun. If the contractor after examination of the source of materials defined in the Descriptive Specification sheet is of opinion that materials complying with the standard or other specifications of the contract cannot be obtained in quality or sufficient quantity from the source defined in the Descriptive Specification sheet, he shall so state clearly in his tender and state wherefrom he intends to obtain materials subject to the approval of the Executive Engineer.

The Government will not, however, after acceptance of a contract rate pay any extra charges for lead or for any other reason, in case the contractor is found later on to have misjudged the materials available. Attention of the contractor is directed to the standard "Preliminary Specification" regarding payment of seigniorage, tolls, etc.

8. The tenderer's particular attention is drawn to the sections and clauses in the standard "Preliminary Specification" dealing with—

(1) test, inspection and rejection of defective materials and work;
(2) carriage;
(3) construction plant;
(4) water and lighting;
(5) cleaning up during progress and for delivery;
(6) accidents;
(7) delays; and
(8) particulars of payment.

The contractor should closely peruse all the specification clauses which govern the rates which he is tendering.

9. A schedule of quantities accompanies this tender notice. It shall be distinctly understood that the Government does not accept any responsibility for the correctness or completeness of this schedule, and that this schedule is liable to alterations by omissions, deductions, or additions at the discretion of the Executive Engineer, Nellore Division, or as set forth in the conditions of contract. The tenderer will, however, base his lump-sum tender on this schedule of quantities. He should quote specific rates for each item in the schedule, and the rates should be in rupees, annas and in sums of three pies. The rates should be written both in words and figures and the units in words. The tenderer should also show the totals of each item and the grand total of the whole contract and quote in the tender a lump sum for which he will undertake to do the whole work subject to the conditions of contract. This schedule accompanying the lump-sum tender shall be written legibly and free from erasures, overwritings or conversions of figures. Corrections, where unavoidable, should be made by crossing out, initialing, dating and rewriting.

10. Tenders offering a percentage deduction from or increase on the estimate amount, and those not submitted in proper form or in due time will be rejected. Rates or lump-sum amounts for items not called for shall not be included in the tender. No alteration which is made by the tenderer in the contract form, the conditions of contract, the drawings, specifications, or quantities accompanying same will be recognised; and if any such alterations are made, the tender will be void.

11. The tenderer should work out his own rates, without reference being made to the Public Works Department current schedule of rates or to the Public Works Department estimate rates which are not open for inspection by tenderers.

12. The attention of the tenderers is directed to the contract requirements as to the time of beginning work, the rate of progress and the dates for the completion of the whole work and its several parts. The following rate of progress and proportionate value of work done from time to time as will be indicated by the Executive Engineer's certificates of the value of work done, will be required. Date of commencement of this progressive will be the date on which the site (or premises) is handed over to the contractor.

Three months	25
Six months	50
Nine months	75
Twelve months	100

13. No part of the contract shall be sublet without written permission of the Executive Engineer nor shall transfer be made by power of attorney authorising others to receive payment on the contractor's behalf.

14. If further necessary information is required, the Executive Engineer of the Division will furnish such, but it must be clearly understood that tenders must be received in order, and according to instructions.

15. The Executive Engineer or other sanctioning authority reserves the right to reject any tender or all the tenders without assigning any reason therefor.

16. The qualifications of the supervising staff employed by the contractor in the execution of the work will be given due consideration in awarding the contract. The tenderer should therefore state in clear terms whether they employ such technical staff and, if so, to give the qualifications of such staff and the extent to which they will be employed on the work.

17 Separate payment will not be made for baling or pumping water. The cost of all works necessary for any dewatering and protecting foundations with shoring planks or sheet piling and other incidental works found necessary during execution must be included in the unit rate.

2. Tenders must be submitted in sealed covers and should be addressed to the Executive Engineer, Kistna Eastern Division, the name of the tenderer and the name of the work being noted on the cover.

If the tender is made by an individual, it shall be signed with his full name and his address shall be given. If it is made by a firm, it shall be signed with the co-partnership name by a member of the firm, who shall also sign his own name, and the names and the address of each member of the firm shall be given. If the tender is made by a corporation, it shall be signed by a duly authorised officer, who shall produce with his tender, satisfactory evidence of his authorisation. Such tendering corporation may be required before the contract is executed, to furnish evidence of its corporate existence.

3. Each tenderer must pay as earnest money a sum of Rs. 250 (two hundred and fifty only) into the branch of the Imperial Bank of India or into the Government treasury, within the jurisdiction of the Executive Engineer, Kistna Eastern Division, to the credit of revenue deposits on behalf of the Executive Engineer of the Kistna Eastern Division, and enclose with his tender the chalan endorsed accordingly. This earnest money will be refunded to the unsuccessful tenderer on application, after intimation is sent of rejection of the tender or at the expiration of two months from the date of tender, whichever is earlier. This refund will be authorized by the Executive Engineer by suitable endorsement on the chalan. The earnest money will not be received in cash or currency notes by the Public Works Department officers.

The earnest money will be retained in the case of the unsuccessful tenderer, and will not carry any interest. It will be dealt with as provided in the tender.

4. When a tender is to be accepted, the tenderer whose tender is under consideration shall attend the division office on the date fixed by written intimation to him. He shall forthwith, upon intimation being given to him by the Executive Engineer of acceptance of his tender, sign an agreement in the department K-2 form for the due fulfilment of contract. Failure to attend the division office on the date fixed in the written intimation from such office or to enter into the required agreement or to make the security deposit as defined in this paragraph shall entail forfeiture of earnest money.

5. To give to prospective tenderers, an idea about the nature and volume of work to be done and to enable them to quote suitable rates, a schedule of approximate quantities is furnished. It shall however be definitely understood that the Government does not accept any responsibility for the correctness of the schedule and that it is liable to alteration by omissions, deductions or additions. The several items of work noted in the schedule are to be executed as per Madras Detailed Standard Specification or Supplemental Specifications for which reference is given against each. The tenderer should carefully study the drawings specifications and all the documents relating to the work to execute which this tender is called for. These can be seen at any time between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. on office days in the office of the Executive Engineer, Kistna Eastern Division, Bezwada.

6. The tenderer's particular attention is drawn to the conditions and to the directions to parties tendering, detailed on the K-2 agreement form and also to the sections and clauses in the Standard Preliminary Specification of the Madras Detailed Standard Specification dealing with (a) materials and workmanship, sections D, clauses 20 to 27 and (b) included in the contract rates, section E and clauses 33 to 41 and 43.

7. Every tenderer is expected before quoting his rates to inspect the site of the proposed work. He should also inspect the quarries and satisfy himself about the quality and availability of materials. The names of quarries, kilns, etc., wherefrom certain materials are to be obtained will be given in the descriptive specification sheet. The best class of materials to be obtained from the quarries or other sources, defined shall be used on the work. In every case the materials must comply with the relevant standard specification. Samples of materials as called for in the standard specifications or in this tender notice or as required by the Executive Engineer, Kistna Eastern Division, in any case, shall be submitted for the Executive Engineer's approval before the supply to site of work is begun. If the contractor, after examination of the source of materials defined in the descriptive specification sheet is of opinion that materials complying with the standard or other specification of the contract cannot be obtained in quality or sufficient quantity from the source defined in the descriptive specification sheet he shall so state clearly in his tender and state wherefrom he intends to obtain materials subject to the approval of the Executive Engineer, Kistna Eastern Division.

The Government will not, however, after acceptance of a contract rate, pay any extra charges for lead or any other reason, in case the contractor is found later on to have misjudged the materials available. Attention of the contractor is directed to the standard "Preliminary Specification" regarding payment of seigniorage, tools, etc.

8. The rate tendered should be for finished work in site inclusive of all incidental charges connected with its execution and should be quoted in rupees, annas and in sum of three pies. The rates should be written in words and figures and the units in words. The tender should be written legible and free from erasures, overwriting or conversions of figures. Corrections, where unavoidable, should be made by crossing out, initialing, dating and re-writing.

9. Tenders offering a percentage deduction from or increase on the estimate amount and those not submitted in proper form or in due time will be rejected. Rates or lump-sum amounts for items not called for shall not be included in the tender. The tenderer should work out his own rates, without reference being made to the Public Works Department current schedule of rates or to the Public Works Department estimate rates which are not open for inspection by tenderers.

10. No part of the contract shall be sublet without written permission of the Executive Engineer nor shall transfer be made by power-of-attorney authorizing others to receive payment on contractor's behalf.
